A Glimpse into Modern Farming Practices

Our founder and Project Manager, Mr Ueland made a recent visit to Bjertnes & Hoel farm in Norway. This visit has opened our eyes to the possibilities that lie within the fields of potato farming. Witnessing the vast potato farm operation at the Bjertnes & Hoel farm was nothing short of inspiring. Their utilization of modern machinery such as potato planters, fertilizer spreaders, sprayers and stone collectors, all integrated with cutting-edge technologies showcased a new era in farming practices.

Drawing from their wealth of experience in potato farming, Bjertnes has been instrumental in providing us with invaluable knowledge and support for our own potato project. Their expertise has been a guiding light in steering our new venture towards success.

Embracing new sustainable practices with our partners Yara Tanzania

Later last week we were visited by Antony Diallo, the Board Chairman of TFRA (Tanzania Fertilizer Regulatory Authority). During his visit he was able to meet with lead farmers from the 16 villagers that FFF, Yara Tanzania together with Seed Co Tanzania have been working together in empowering smallholder farmers. In the meeting we delved into the essential role of fertilizers in agriculture. The insightful discussions highlighted the importance of applying fertilizer effectively to enhance crop yield and promote sustainable farming practices.
